

HIV/AIDS threatens families and communities worldwide. On World AIDS Day 2004, remember children who are among the most vulnerable victims of the disease.

Consider these startling statistics:

- 4 million children were orphaned by HIV/AIDS in 2003 alone.
- Nearly 1.8 million children orphaned by AIDS are living in the Anglican Province of southern Africa.

But you can help today.

Episcopal Relief and Development is fighting HIV/AIDS in communities hardest-hit by the pandemic. Our comprehensive program provides prevention education, care for people suffering from the disease, and support for orphans and vulnerable children left behind.

AIDS robs children of a future. As the disease sweeps through countries in Africa, children are left behind without the care and support they need to survive. ERD is supporting programs in central and southern Africa that will help communities care for the expanding population of orphaned children in their midst.

You have an opportunity to support children affected by HIV/AIDS and give them hope for the future.

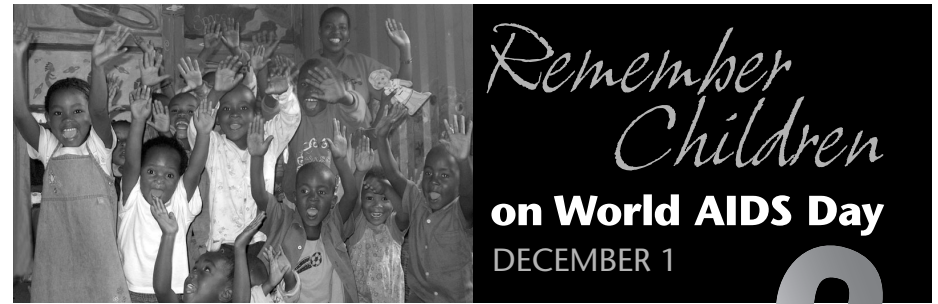

On World AIDS Day 2004, pray for children and families devastated by AIDS.

Give a gift and make a difference!
