

REMEMBER CHILDREN IN THE FIGHT AGAINST HIV/AIDS

World AIDS Day 2008

On December 1, 2008, the twentieth anniversary of World AIDS Day, Episcopal Relief & Development remembers the 15 million children around the world who have lost one or both parents to AIDS.

Along with the trauma of their loss, these orphans are vulnerable to poverty and exploitation. They are often forced to leave school to find work to support themselves and their younger brothers and sisters.

But today you can help to heal the suffering of these children.

Pray for everyone affected by HIV/AIDS around the world.

Remember all the children who have been orphaned as a result of this pandemic illness.

Give a donation to help vulnerable people and communities, especially children.

Please join Episcopal Relief & Development in commemorating World AIDS Day and healing a hurting world by helping to provide much-needed tuition, books, uniforms, school lunches and other supplies to orphaned children who must otherwise fend for themselves.
